this book is about the meaning of disability in schools the experience of children with disabilities in schools has undergone substantial change over the last twenty years and more with many children who would have once been living in institutions now going to school alongside their peers with this monumental shift and the continuing increased participation of people with disabilities one might wonder what disability means in the age of institutionalisation disability referred to those people who were not able to actively participate in society as it turns out many of the people who were deemed unable to participate were so only because the society in which they lived had kept them from active participation through institutionalisation in ontario canada where the author lives and works many adults with disabilities continue to live in institutions and are also active in their communities so it is not just the institutions that disable people there are many reasons that people fall into the classification of disabled and for some this classification begins in an institution often in the institution of school this book explores the different beliefs that teachers and parents hold about disability and the types of barriers that cause disability and how these beliefs translate into education practice the authors identify the risk and protective factors for self harm exploring why some adolescents with suicidal thoughts go on to harm themselves while others do not what motivates some young people to seek help and whether distressed teenagers feel they receive the support they need this book has the potential to recenter our national conversation on education policy by examining professional issues through powerful personal experience kathleen cushman author fires in the mind as an experienced teacher and administrator i found myself moved inspired and motivated to do whatever it takes to provide meaningful learning experiences for all children roberto a pamas principal o w holmes middle school falls church va education reform begins when we reconnect with the common purpose behind every educational endeavor the former executive director of the american association of school administrators outlines a coherent countervision of the factors educators must consider in order to turn schools back into places that nurture children there are basic truths about what motivates people paul d houston argues and educators must embed these truths in the educational process in this book educators will find inspiration and guidance through eighteen beautifully written thought provoking essays on how we can transform our schools chapter by chapter questions to inspire reflection discussion and professional development a broad range of topics spanning from the magic of learning to global education to the perils of accountability houston s words will resonate with anyone committed to improving schools and will help educators examine their own beliefs develop a common vision and enact reform
